MORMON CHURCH CALLED AN INDUSTRIAL TRUST

ESTABLISHED JUNE 6, 1870.

Further Testimony of Judge Powers Before the Senate Committee.

Polygamy Not the Worst Feature of Mormonism-Kind Words For the People As a Whole.

Washington, April 23.—The Mormon church as an industrial trust was the theme of Judge Powers before the Smoot investigation committee today. He told of the activity of the church in industrial matters and of its control over the votes of the employes by reason of its ecclesical pulse.

Judge Powers brought the matter of church interference down to current events. He said there had been evidence of church domination in the past few weeks in the election of Smoot delegates to the Republican national convention. The candidates supported by the Deseret News, the official organ of the church, were elected, and those supported by Senator Thomas Kearns were defeated.

The attitude of the younger element of Mormons is strongly against any reestablishment of polygamy today, the witness said. Members of the "old guard" of Utah citizens who had fought Mormonism for years, were reconciled to the absence of prosecution against the lawbreakers, he said, in the hope that with toleration the practice would die out with the present generation.

"Polygamy is not the worst feature of Mormonism," he said. "It is Polygamy is not the worst feature of Mormonism," he said. "It is "Polygamy is not the worst feature of Mormonism," he said. "It is the un-American domination by the hierarchy teaching that the head of that body is inspired, the control of the church over politics and the intermingling of church influence in the business life of our people." In closing his testimony, Judge Powers said he had no complaint to make against the Mormon people. They were industrious, hospitable, charitable and much the same as other people. It was the system of domination by the church over the temporal affairs of the people that he objected to.

While Powers' testimony closed today he was asked to remain over until next week by Chairman Burrows, as it might be desired to ask him further questions. It is conceded that Powers' testimony has made a decided impression on the committee as to the question of Another instance of church interference had been shown, he said, in the mayoralty contest at Provo, when Reed Smoot favored the candidacy of George Sutherland. The witness said Smoot was held in disfavor with the church

"Did she vote for Smoot?" asked enator Overman. "I understand she did."

Manifesto of 1896.

Senator Dubois—Judge Powers, what do you regard the chief exhibition of church domination over political af-fairs that has come to your notice? "It occurred at the April, 1896, conference when the political rule—that is, the manifesto against Mormons' en-tering politics without consent of church authorities—was adopted. This rule was adopted without a dissenting vote and at the same conference Moses Future of Mormon Church.

The cross-examination of Judge Powers began at the afternoon session Questions by Mr. Van Cott brought out the statements from the witness that he believed the Mormon church would eventually assume a position similar to that of other churches. With honest upright, lawabiding leaders, he thought the people would be honest and lawabiding. He deplored, however, that the people were disposed to obey the leaders of the church whether such leaders were good or bad.

Somewhat Personal.

Judge Powers admitted that Mr. Smooth had been prominent in working for Republicanism before politics in Utah had divided on party lines. It was brought out that Judge Powers was chairman of the committee which nominated Brigham H. Roberts and Moces Thatcher, both of whom were

Republican Issues.

Dalzell's Insinuation.

"I will state that I have been informed that it was profitable to the gentleman from New York to support McKlnley when he did." remarked Mr. Dalzell, amid applause and laughter on the Republican side.

"That is a statement." replied Mr. Cockran, with vehemence, "which has been made wherever there has been found a mouth foul enough to utter words behind which there was no conscience. (Democratic applause.) I challenge the gentleman and all the cohorts of vice and crime and corruption that are embodied in the Republican party to show that the national committee ever contributed as much as my railroad fare during all that campaign."

The was greated with prolonged cheers

"I can say as to myself," said Mr. Dal-rell, "precisely what the gentleman has said himself with respect to campaign-ing."
"I should not have respected the gen-tleman," retorted Mr. Cockran, "but it has been my experience in life that no man is quick to accuse another of any infamy unless he has been intimate with it himself."

JUDGE PARKER THEIR CHOICE

South Sees in Him an Ideal Candidate for President.

HAS NEVER BEEN DEFEATED

VIALS OF WRATH UNCORKED STRONG POINTS IN FAVOR OF THE NEW YORKER. W ASHINGTON, April 23.—Two of the "heavyweight" speaker.

(Special to The Herald.) WASHINGTON, April 23,-"The South wants victory," said Representative Hardwick of Georgia, one of the most determined, aggressive and intelligent champions of the young Democracy of that part of the country, the other day. We want to win, and we think we see in Judge Parker the man who can lead us to victory. We are tired of being sacrificed on the altar of party expediency We are weary of the candidacy of any man whose very name is the signal for strenuous opposition within our own ranks. We want a man upon whom all of us can unite, and who stands a reasonable chance of leading the party to victory at the polls.

Sane and Able.

"The south sees such a man in Judge Parker. Its leaders and politicians be-lieve that in him all men who stand for the ideals of Demo or the ideals of Democracy can reach a point of agreement. He is without the deathly disadvantages of the leaders of either of the extreme wings of of the party. He is sane and able and clear-headed; we think he ought

Republican Issues.

As to the platform Mr. Cockran said that if the New York Democratic platform was evasive he wondered what would be the terms of that written in the White House. Mr. Cockran humorously referred to a remark said to have been made by President Roosevelt about the good and bad trusts. He said that naturally had trusts were those which raised the prices, but a great onsiaught has been made on one which did not raise prices, the Northern Securities company, and it had only been compalled to change its base. The trusts when raised prices were those which raised prices were those which raised prices which tariff wall.

Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania asked Mr. Cockran if he had the same views when he was making Republican speeches in 1886.

Mr. Cockran responded that he never made a Republican speeche in his life; that he supported McKinley when the people had forced a financial plank in the platform which met his (Cockran's approval. he would not for a moment surrender all that campaign."

This was greeted with prolonged cheers and applause on the Democratic side.

"I do not suppose the gentleman paid any railroad fare." said Mr. Dalzell.

Mr. Cockran said he paid his own expenses wherever he went, and continued:

Challenged the Republicans.

"I challenged the Republicans.

"I challenged the gentleman now, as I challenged Mr. Hanna while he was living, as I challenged the New York Tribune last fall in New York while Mr. Hanna was still living, and as I now challenge everyone on that side, to show where in the last twenty years I have not been a subscribed to instead of a recipient from campaign funds. The gentleman attributes to me what he knows to be the universal custom of every Republican politician."

This was greeted with prolonged cheers and applause by the Democrats.

"I can say as to myself," said Mr. Dalzell. "precisely what the gentleman has said himself with respect to campaign.
